Preparing children for life

Welcome to Windlesham School

Windlesham School, in Brighton, is an independent day school for children aged 3 to 11 years.

The school was founded in 1948 and is a charitable trust with the ethos that all children should have access to private education at an affordable price.

There are now more than 200 pupils on roll, with over 40 dedicated teaching staff, including assistants and expert provision for special educational needs.

Small class sizes enable us to provide an education tailored to individual needs, where traditional values go hand-in-hand with innovative teaching. We aim to lay strong foundations for each pupil's future, and children flourish in our caring, friendly environment.

Ready for life

Windlesham School aims to help children develop as happy, well-rounded and motivated individuals, who respond positively to every new challenge. We support children in developing their particular talents and abilities; most importantly, effort and enthusiasm are always encouraged.

Joy in learning, pride in achievement and respect for others are intrinsic to the values of the three main school departments.

Nursery
from 3 years

A self-contained environment with a family atmosphere gives young children the confidence to explore and learn through play and structured activities.

Lower School
from 4-6 years

Small, friendly classes provide a gentle introduction to school life, in which each child is seen as an individual.

Upper School
from 7-11 years

A broad curriculum and individual attention inspire growing pupils to extend their capabilities and shine.

We learn

We make friends

We play

We thrive

We progress

NURSERY

A head start

Busy parents need assurance that their children are in good hands, within a secure and happy environment, where learning means fun.

The Owlets Nursery is dedicated to providing the perfect environment for exploration and play. It is superbly equipped and staffed by a caring, qualified and experienced team.

The Nursery is a self-contained unit within the school – the younger children can see what is going on elsewhere, but are never overwhelmed by the wider school environment.

Inside, there are areas designated for messy play, arts and crafts and role-play as well as quiet corners for reading. The children are introduced to pre-reading and numeracy skills within a play context.

They also gain the benefit of the school's focus on specialist subject teaching with a first taste of music and French.

There is access to two playgrounds with soft surfaces, as well as a lawn and a patio. These provide safe play areas for outdoor activities and making new friends.

All this, along with the emphasis on working together and promoting independence, helps to prepare children for a smooth transition to the Lower School.

Pride in progress

Lower School from 4-6 years

The Lower School provides a gentle introduction to formal school life in which every step forward is valued.

Small, friendly classes ensure individual attention and the freedom for children to develop at their own pace.

All children are taught to read and write using Read Write Inc, a tried and tested synthetic phonics reading programme. Its systematic and structured approach results in rapid learning of sounds and blending, enabling children to be successful from the very beginning.

French and an introduction to computing supplement gradual development in reading, writing and numeracy skills. Progress is carefully monitored in consultation with parents.

We also attach high priority to creative subjects, including art, drama, music and singing. Staff organise a variety of trips to places related to curriculum subjects, and there are regular drama and musical performances which link into current work topics.

Philosophy is introduced in the Lower School to encourage discussion, listening skills and debate from an early age.

P. E. lessons include gymnastics, dance, athletics and swimming. There are many extracurricular activities to join, such as ballet, speech and drama, Lego, chess, sewing, keyboard skills and sports.

Ongoing encouragement in every aspect of development ensures that the children move on to the Upper School feeling confident and proud of their achievements.

“ I love Windlesham because the teachers are really nice and teach us lots of things.”

Scope for the future

Upper School from 7-11 years

Class sizes remain small, with a focus on individual attention, as the expanding curriculum widens horizons in Windlesham Upper School.

Emphasis on maths, English and sciences remains in line with the National Curriculum, but pupils also study geography, history, French, religious studies, music, computing, art, craft, design and technology.

Reasoning is introduced in the Upper School to help pupils prepare for their secondary school examinations. Philosophy lessons continue with a focus on developing critical thinking.

From Year 3, the children are taught by subject specialists. They are in sets for maths and are grouped for particular English activities. While the class tutor is key, children also benefit from teachers who can share their subject expertise. Classrooms have flat-panel interactive display boards and children use iPads when appropriate to practise skills in a fun and interactive way during lessons.

A variety of competitive sports are introduced from Year 3, including touch rugby, football, netball, hockey, lacrosse, rounders, tennis and cricket, while stroke techniques and racing tactics are taught in swimming.

The Upper School is divided into Houses, Arundel, Bodiam and Lewes, each with a House Captain. The positions of Head Girl, Head Boy and other posts give pupils the chance to take on responsibility, gaining confidence and developing maturity.

After-school clubs are popular with extra-curricular activities ranging from sports and ballet, to chess and gardening.

All children are encouraged to develop their particular talents and abilities. Academically able pupils are stretched to fulfil their potential. Children with special needs receive expert help to enjoy and extend their learning.

“ I love being in Year 6 at Windlesham School because we get posts of responsibility and I am Music Senior Prefect.”

Joe, age 10

Our view is that every child should be given the chance to shine. Effort and enthusiasm, as well as attainment, are celebrated.

Inspiration to grow

Reward for effort

Hard work is rewarded at Windlesham School and our Owl Awards celebrate outstanding achievements by children, helping to inspire further success.

Pupils are treated as individuals in all subject areas and our view is that every child should be given the chance to shine. Effort and enthusiasm, as well as attainment, are celebrated, to encourage everyone to achieve their best.

Merit badges are also awarded in Assembly to children who have made a special effort or gone out of their way to help others, either in the classroom or in other aspects of school life.

“ When I get an Owl Award I feel proud because I have worked hard, and when my friends get one I am also happy because they deserve it.”

Astrid, age 8

A chance to shine Fit for action

Windlesham School believes that active children are more alert and eager to learn and we offer a wide range of sports, including gymnastics, netball, tennis, hockey, rounders, lacrosse, football, touch rugby and swimming, either in school, or as part of a broad programme of extracurricular activities.

Music also features strongly in the school. There are three choirs and pupils benefit from many opportunities to sing, play instruments and perform. All children are able to read and write music by the time they leave us at 11 years old.

Our 15 metre indoor heated swimming pool in Cooper House has been purpose built with excellent provision for changing and showering, plus a viewing gallery for spectators. These superb facilities enable every child in the Lower and Upper School to swim regularly, all year round, a factor that has yielded great results in competitions and attainment.

“ My favourite part of Windlesham is our swimming pool because the water is so warm and I love going into the deep end.”

Diego, age 7

Delight in achievement

Equipped for success

The facilities at Windlesham School are excellent. As well as our swimming pool, we have a dedicated computer suite in Cooper House, equipped with fully networked computers and flat-screen monitors. Internet access is available, giving up to 20 children at a time the opportunity to master computer skills from a young age. They can learn from a variety of the latest software packages.

The science room allows pupils to explore fantastic new worlds in a safe and stimulating environment, taking part in various practical activities. We also have specialist music, French and art rooms, a hall and gymnasium.

A hard court on site is used for netball, lacrosse and five-a-side football, while athletics, cross country, rugby and football training take place on the sports field in Dyke Road Park, opposite the school.

“ French is really fun because we sing songs to help us learn words, like all the different colours or prepositions.”

Allegra, age 10

Moving on

All set for the future

Special guidance is given to Year 6 pupils to prepare those taking entrance exams; the majority win places at their first choice of secondary school, with a significant number receiving scholarships each year.

Being totally independent, we are also able to offer impartial advice and guidance to parents on secondary school options, based on each pupil's individual needs and abilities.

Our aim is that all children leave us as well-balanced, caring, confident individuals, all set to succeed at their next school and beyond.

“ I loved my time at Windlesham, and my friends and I were all really sad when we had to leave, but we also felt excited and ready to move on. I'm really enjoying secondary school and I think my great experience at Windlesham has helped me take all the challenges of my new school in my stride.”

Hugo, age 13

Educating the generations

Julie, Jayden and Mia Hobbs

Visitors, parents and pupils alike often say that Windlesham feels like a big family; indeed, many current pupils have relatives who also attended the school. Julie Hobbs (née Pullin) was at Windlesham in the 1980s and now her children come here. Julie, a former British no. 1 and World Ranked 125 professional tennis player, was a member of Team GB at the 2000 Sydney Olympics.

Julie: "My lasting memory of Windlesham is how happy and confident I felt here. As well as giving me a good academic grounding, the school encouraged me to pursue my passion for tennis and I'm so gratified to see my children having the same positive experience at this unique school."

Jayden, age 9: "We love coming to Windlesham because the teachers are fun and supportive and we've made lots of friends."

Mia, age 7: "My favourite subject is art because I can be creative and make lots of exciting things."

An inspirational founder

Miss Irene Cooper

In 1948 a dedicated and inspirational teacher, Miss Irene Cooper, opened a school with eleven pupils in Windlesham Gardens in Brighton. With the strong support of parents and friends – and a sympathetic bank manager – the school went from strength to strength, quickly outgrowing its original premises and moving to 190 Dyke Road in 1952. Three years later, 180 Dyke Road was also purchased. Its large grounds adjoined 190's and by simply removing the fences the current school site was created.

Over the years pupil numbers grew and facilities such as a gym, swimming pool and specialist classrooms were added. Miss Cooper died in 2002, but her vision of providing a high-quality, affordable, private education in a respectful, kind and nurturing setting still pervades the school. Today, Windlesham School continues to thrive. Its deceptively large site, tucked away behind residential houses opposite Dyke Road Park, always surprises visitors.
