Why go on a residential?

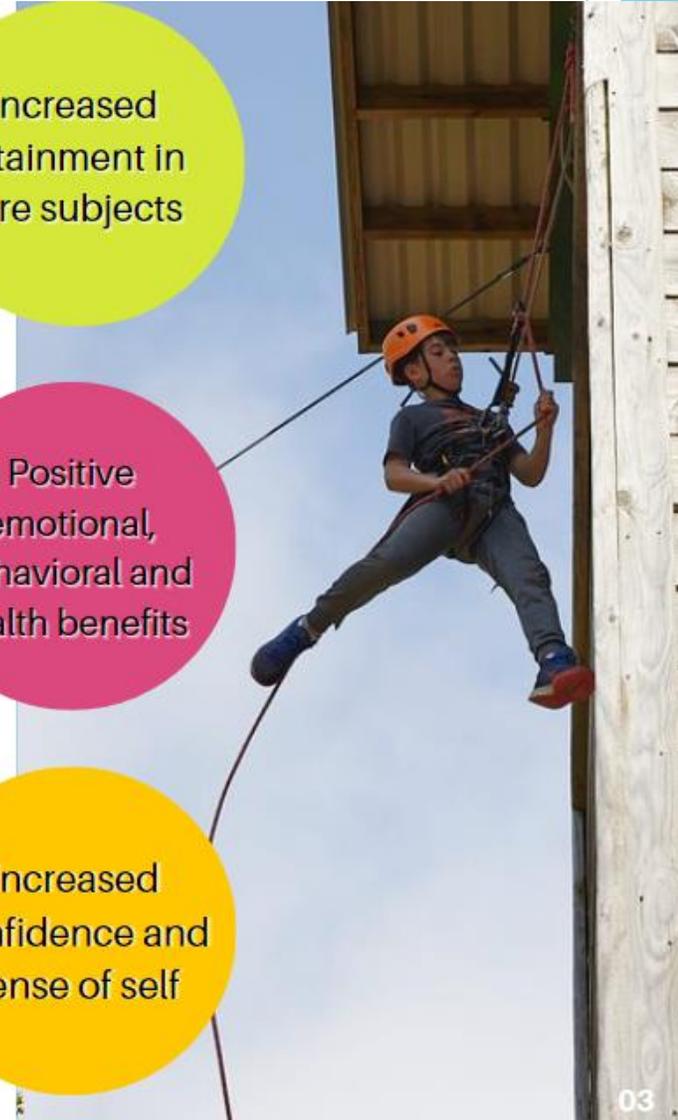

So, what's so great about a residential? Not only do the young people who go on a residential have lots of fun, there are also many studies that have found that residential provide young people with a number of benefits, allowing them to grow and push themselves into adulthood.

Our instructors are highly trained and operate a 'challenge by choice' view to encourage every young child throughout their stay with us. Young people leave Hindleap with greater confidence, better friendships and a better ability to tackle new challenges they may face.
